NEW YORK, June 22.—Wanted: Nurses. Wanted: Half of those now eligible—for duty with the army and navy.
Wanted: 55,000 new students this year for replacements in civilian nursing. Wanted: 65,000 next year, 75,000 the next.
There's no draft to help the government toward its goals. The whole thing, from enrollment to armed forces detail, is voluntary, and the recruiting committees have competition on their hands.
In getting already registered nurses to volunteer for the and money-return of employment in war industries; with enlistment in the WAAC or the navy's embryo sister organization.
In getting already registered nurses to volunteer for the army and navy nursing corps, they must compete against employment on hospital staffs, instruction posts, "luxury nursing," airline hostess jobs, public health positions, against wartime marriages.
For only unmarried registered nurses under 40 can get into the army and navy nursing corps, and before they can say yes to the government's urgency there must be others to take their places as instructors and in caring for the nation's health at home.

For the moment, the problem is one of releasing the 38,000 eligibles. There will be 27,000 more of them by September.
To release them, the government has done several major things.
Over a year ago refresher courses for older nurses were instituted in many states.
But thus far, according to a nursing official, "there has not been a very active response. They just haven't felt the pressure enough!"
This source of supply was obviously small. The government looked to the vast field of womanpower as yet untrained, as yet outside the profession, and last fall set up the national recruitment committee for Student Nurses.
Their job was not easy. As against the competitor they faced from more remunerative or more immediate and equally patriotic projects, they offered a project that charged tuition and took three years to complete.
They faced objections from parents who already had given a son to the army and wanted to keep their daughter at home.
The committee had answers to all of these things and quickly sought the opportunity to present them. Representatives of their state nursing councils—usually pretty recently graduate

FALL OF TOBRUK BLIGHTS ALLIED PLANS

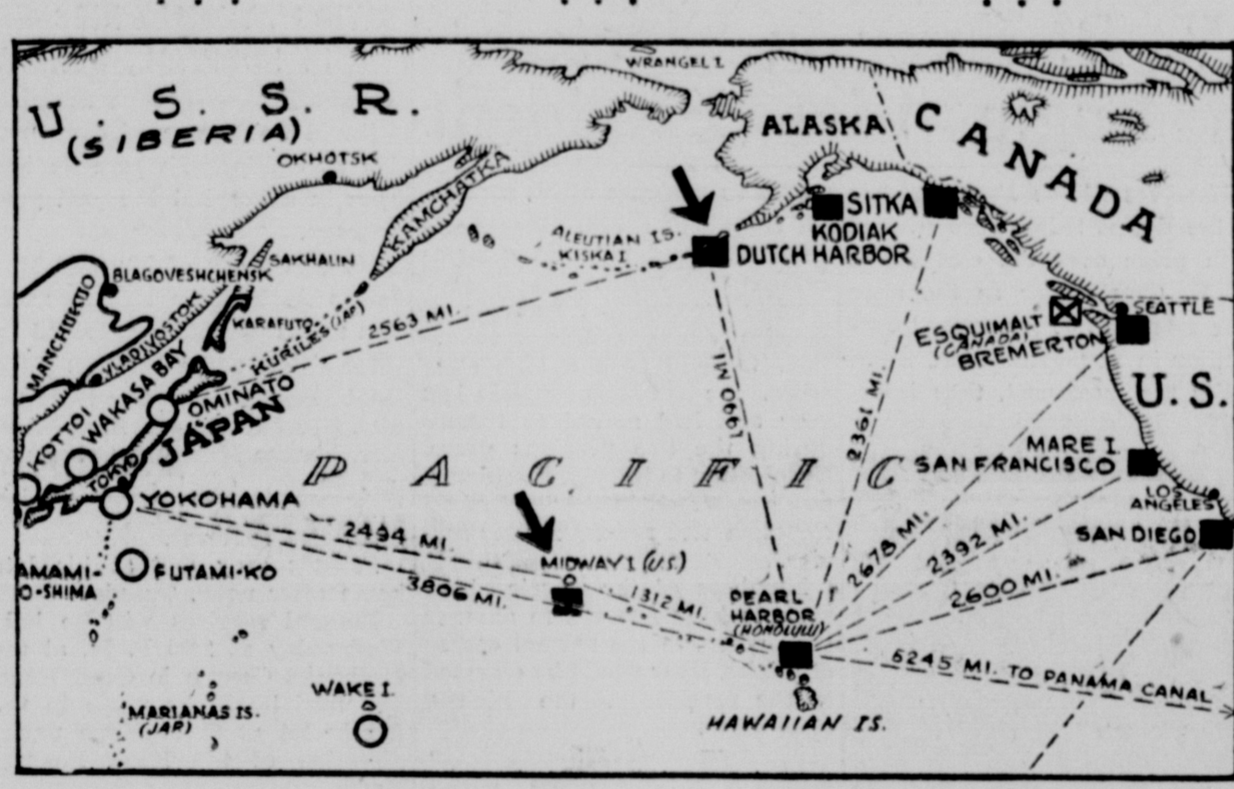

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE
...When the fishin' bee bites a man... well, it is like being bitten by a wide variety of other bees... there's just no help for it except to go fishin' or what not.
When Glenn Smith of the Chillicothe road entered the sheriff's office Friday morning and told Otto Reno, the fishin' deputy (who never lets his sport interfere with his official duties) that he had landed a 30 pound shovel-head catfish in Salt Creek near Richmondale in Ross County, I saw Otto's eyes begin to widen.
Ott knew it was some fish and I could tell he was itchin' to see the big fellow; so I was not surprised a few hours later to run across Glenn on the street and have him tell me that Ott had driven down to his house just to get a look at the big shovelhead.
Next thing I expect to hear is that Ott has spent the week end on Brush Creek in Adams County, or on Sunfish Creek, after a shovelhead that will beat the one landed by Glenn.
That reminds me of a little yarn that tickled my fancy, and I'll repeat it for your benefit. Here 'tis:
Two aged and very deaf men were walking along a road near a small lake, when they met one asked: "Goin' fishin'?"
"No," said the second man, "I'm goin' fishin'".
"Oh!", said the first man, "I thought you was goin' fishin'!"
Reports indicate that the practice of guests taking their own sugar with them when they are being entertained for dinner or lunches is growing, and that is great many thoughtful women, and men, do not overlook this important matter, inasmuch as they must know the sugar supply of their host and hostess is limited.
In one instance recently there were five in the party of guests, and four of them had taken their own sugar so as not to impose upon their hosts. It proved somewhat embarrassing to the fifth member of the party who had failed to take sugar.

OREGON COAST IS SHELLED BY JAPANESE SUB

Missiles Are Heard Whining Overhead only to Thud Harmlessly on Beach
(By The Associated Press)
Submarine shelling of lonely Vancouver Island in Canada's British Columbia and gunfire on the Oregon coast from an unidentified craft lurking offshore today brought war to the doorstep of an alert and expectant Pacific Northwest.
The two attacks, at points separated by several hundred miles, were about 24 hours apart. Official reports indicated no casualties and little damage at either spot.
First target was a Dominion government radio station at Estevan Point, on the western coast of Vancouver Island. The shelling there began at 10:35 P. M. (Pacific war time) Saturday and continued for a half-hour.
Shells Hit on Beach
"The shells landed on the beach or on the rocks well beyond the building," said Lieut.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, commander-in-chief of Canadian West Coast defenses. "A few windows in the radio office were broken by the concussion."
Then, at 11:30 o'clock last night, residents from Seaside on the ocean to Astoria on the Columbia River, at the northwest tip of Oregon, were awakened by the

Nips Revealed To Be Sneaking Closer to Alaska
As Army Fliers Report Bombing Ships at Kiska—Cruiser Hit and Transport Sunk

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—Under cover of fog and thick weather, Japanese landing forces have inched along the Aleutian Island chain toward Alaska and now are establishing themselves at Kiska, only 585 miles from the United States navy base at Dutch Harbor.
This was disclosed in a communique yesterday that told of the bombing of "a small force" of enemy ships in Kiska harbor. Army fliers reported hitting one cruiser and sinking a transport.
While the number of ships actually in Kiska harbor may have been small, observers pointed out that presence of a cruiser might indicate that a force of destroyers and auxiliaries was somewhere in the vicinity.
The communique said operations in the Aleutians "continued to be restricted by considerations of weather and great distances."
"Within the last few days, however," it added, "the weather was sufficiently clear at times to permit some restricted air operations against Kiska where tents and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set up on land."
The navy reported on June 12 that a small enemy force had landed on Attu, a barren, rocky islet marking the westernmost tip of the Aleutian chain. At that time the presence of enemy ships at Kiska was noted, but they were reported shortly afterwards to have been driven away.
Kiska, formerly used as a navy coaling station, is about 275 miles east of Attu. About 20 miles long, it is sparsely inhabited by Indians and a few white traders.

SECOND FRONT, HOPE OF ALLIES GIVEN SET-BACK

Sevastopol in Danger, Too, As Hitler Pours Men into Bloody Battle
ALLIES FACE NEW CRISIS
Axis Set for Drive for Rich Caucasus Oil Fields And Middle East
By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
(By The Associated Press)
The white flag that fluttered out Sunday morning over Tobruk's shattered barricades as a final, mute concession that a superior Axis force had reconquered Libya marks a major turn in the stratagems of war on two continents, if not in the whole world.
Axis Rolls Toward Egypt
With Tobruk and virtually all eastern Libya under control, the Axis African Corps rolled eastward today against Egypt, imperiling the entire position of the United Nations in the Middle East.
An enemy column evidently feeling out the weakened British line along the Egyptian frontier clashed with British Mobile units a few miles from the border, the British reported, and Rome boasted that Italian-German troops were marching against Egypt.
A military disaster in Libya of such magnitude that it may have blighted the Allies' hopes for a second front in Europe this year and prolonged the whole war was acknowledged by the British today with deep and undisguised anxiety.
All sources agreed that the Allies were faced with a crisis.
Next Few Weeks Vital
The next few weeks, they said, will decide whether Germany can be beaten in 1942 or 1943 or will be able to fight on for years using the oil of the Middle East and the tin and rubber of the Far East.
If Nazi Marshal Edwin Rommel followed up the capture of Tobruk with customary Nazi speed, it was believed that the impending Axis thrust toward the Suez Canal and the road to Iraq would be launched within a month.
Even more than the fall of Tobruk itself, alarm was felt because Rommel's thunderbolt assault on the fortress, once so staunchly held against seven months of siege, showed that the Axis possessed a terrific striking power which appeared to have been woefully underestimated.
So extended and intertwined are causes and effects of the Libyan capitulation that military experts were hard-pressed to trace them. But it was obvious the Axis triumph was forcing a drastic reshaping, if not postponement or abandonment, of some plans of the United Nations.

Australian Fliers Rescued From Jap Island By Daring Officer of American U-Boat

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—An officer of a United States submarine in the southwest Pacific recently swam ashore on a Japanese-occupied Island, located a group of stranded Australian fliers and arranged their transfer to the undersea ship which removed them to safety, the Navy disclosed today.
The story was told in an announcement of the award of the Navy Cross for heroism to 24-year-old Ensign George Carlton Cook, Naval Reserve Officer from Marblehead Rock, Mass. The submarine commander, who took his vessel through Japanese Patrols successfully, was also decorated with the Navy Cross. He was Lieutenant Hiram Cassedy, 33, of Brookhaven, Miss. Meanwhile, Extension of Gasoline Rationing Is Getting More Remote WASHINGTON, June 22.—(AP)—Abandonment of plans for nationwide gasoline rationing was predicted in some congressional quarters today as administration lieutenants reportedly gave the "go ahead" signal for a senatorial investigation of the entire situation.
While this investigation was expected to deal primarily with conditions in the 17 eastern states now on short fuel rations, several senators predicted the inquiry would have a direct bearing on any future move to extend rationing to other sections.
There have been indications that expansion of the curtailment area might depend largely on the success or failure of the current scrap rubber collection. Meanwhile, dry gasoline pumps

'Torso Killer' Victim Found In Cleveland

PITTSBURGH, June 22.—(AP)—Authorities today blamed Cleveland's phantom "torso killer" for another decapitation slaying.
Investigators reported that the headless body of an unidentified man, taken from the Monongahela River yesterday, bore surgical similarity to possibly a score of the "mad butcher's" victims. Four other gruesome killings in the Pittsburgh area in the past two years were officially laid to the same slayer, unapprehended for nearly a decade. Most of the victims were found in Cleveland.
The body recovered yesterday was in the water about three days, a coroner's physician said. The left arm carried two vaccination scars and there was evidence of a hernia operation.

No Progress Has Been Made In Last Four Days

CHUNGKING, June 22.—(AP)—The Japanese effort to close the gap between their columns driving from either end of the strategic 450-mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railway has made no substantial progress in the last four days and the Chinese still hold approximately 50 miles of the line, informed sources indicated today.
The campaign, centering in eastern Kiangsi province, appeared to have settled into a bitter see-saw struggle after five weeks of steady Japanese advance. The Chinese, who have reported exacting tremendous losses from the invaders, have not recorded any Japanese gains along the railway since June 18.

Ohio's Gin Is About Gone; No More Until After War

COLUMBUS, June 22.—(AP)—Ohio's gin is just about gone, and there isn't going to be any more until —
Liquor director Jacob B. Taylor said today stocks in State Liquor Stores likely would be exhausted within a month and in view of government restrictions on use of 190-proof alcohol, no more gin could be obtained until after the war.
Whiskey supplies are ample, however, Taylor said that even if distilleries should be forced to stop production, they have sufficient supplies for five or six years.
"But if the war should last 10 years," Taylor remarked, "we'll all have to walk the straight and narrow."
Elimination of gin sales likely will reduce the State's liquor revenue about 7 per cent, or upward of $3,000,000 yearly, the director said. Ohio sold 191,000 cases of 12 quarts each during 1940, present figures showed.
Taylor said that night clubs and bars anticipated the shortage and had stocked up.

RECORD PRICES FOR DORSETS IS PAID SATURDAY

New Record for the Entire Country Is Made at Bitzer Sale

What is said to have been the highest price on record at auction for a Dorset ram and ewe in the United States, was paid at the public auction held Saturday afternoon at the Producers sales pavilion, when Willard Bitzer sold 61 head of pure bred Dorset sheep.

The top price paid at auction for a Dorset ram prior to the Bitzer sale was $77. The Bitzer yearling ram brought $105 and sold to Paul S. Nutter, Auburn, W. Va.

The second highest ram went to Ward Renaker, Cynthiana, Ky., at $102.50. The first four rams passing under the hammer went to four different states.

The sale got under way around one o'clock with Col. Fred Reppert opening.

He introduced J. R. Henderson of Hickory, Pa., Secretary of the Continental Dorset Club who made a brief talk complimenting Bitzer on the splendid type of Dorsets offered, their excellent condition and promised every assistance from the National Association to farmers starting in the breed.

The first two ewes offered brought the top prices of $80 and $95—an all time high for Dorset ewes. Bitzer was particularly proud of these sales, inasmuch as they went to Jesse C. Andrews, past president of the National Shropshire Association. Andrews long has been prominent in sheep circles and to have him select ewes from this flock for foundation stock is considered an honor.

The next ewe sold also created rather a sensation when it was announced that she was going to Wild Rose Farms of St. Charles, Illinois owned by Crane of the "Crane Plumbing and Heating Co. Inc., of Chicago. Crane had telephoned an order for sixteen head and although he secured several, his order could not be completely filled.

Another Dorset ewe sold for $82.50 going to D. G. Curry of Croton, Ohio and one at $90 went to Heide Bros. of Springfield. Another top-ewe went to Sawyer Farm Princeton, N. J.

The sale had been carefully planned and organized and every detail had been worked out in advance. A competent mail order service had been set up with several prominent sheepmen serving.

It is interesting to note that with only 61 head sold there were more than 30 orders for sheep sent in by mail representing half a dozen states. All these orders could not be filled.

The fourteen rams averaged $52.85. The 47 ewes, averaged $54.95.

Sheep authorities remarked that it was one of the best offerings of Dorsets ever presented to the public and one of the best fitted. Every sheep had been put in show shape before entering the sale ring.

Bitzer stated that there were sheep for every body in his sale, show sheep for those who wished to pay the price, excellent foundation stock at reasonable prices, and bargains for those interested in commercial sheep.

MORE SELECTEES DEPART MONDAY FOR COLUMBUS

Change in Induction Plan Is Announced for Future Groups

A number of colored registrants were sent from this county Monday morning to Columbus for examination and, if they are passed, for induction into the armed forces, and the usual patriotic demonstration was held for them.

The Washington High School Band played from the Courthouse lawn, and Attorney Norman McLean spoke briefly to the group of inductees before they boarded a bus for Columbus.

Names of the inductees were not made public and will not be until after the examination, and then only those who pass the physical tests.

The present patriotic demonstration is the last one that will be held when groups depart for examination and possible induction into the armed forces.

Under a new order issued, all men who are inducted into the service will have 14 days leave of absence before departing for training, and at their final departure, demonstrations can be held.

Within a short time the Selective Service Board will require the class of men from 45 to 65 to fill out occupational questionnaires. However, the questionnaires of all others who have registered prior to the 45-65 class must first fill out occupational questionnaires.

sound of gunfire and the whine of speeding missiles.

"Six to nine shells landed in the area north of Seaside," the Army said in a communique from western defense headquarters at San Francisco, "apparently from an unidentified craft offshore. Firing lasted 15 minutes. No damage or casualties reported."

Royal Canadian and American Naval units were reported to have launched an immediate hunt for the attacker, presumably a Japanese submarine.

So, Japs Start Crowding

At Tokyo, a naval commentator quoted by Domei gave indirect support to the belief that the attack upon Vancouver Island, at least, was made by a Japanese craft.

This "must have been a great shock to the United States and Canadian peoples," he said, citing the assault as refutation of Secretary of War Stimson's recent statement that U. S. victories at Midway and in the Coral Sea had lessened the danger of Japanese attack upon the American Coast.

The shellings in British Columbia and Oregon were the second and third instances of hostile action against the North American mainland since the start of the war, and the first since February 23.

At dusk on that date a large submarine surfaced off Goleta, Calif., seven miles north of Santa Barbara, and fired some 25 shells at an oil field and refinery along the ocean front. One hit was made on an oil well derrick, causing minor damage.

"There are many messages which should be given the public through the use of advertising space. The desire for liberty and freedom can be strengthened by reiteration of their benefits."

Nazi air raiders, apparently replying to two successive RAF night assaults on Emden and other targets in northwest Germany, unloaded high explosives on Southampton last night in a sharp attack which caused some damage and casualties.

The raid was described as the heaviest on Britain in three weeks, but informed quarters said the number of planes which participated was not large in comparison with the formations the RAF has been hurling against.

The RAF fighters also strafed German airdromes in northern France and the low countries and blasted at railway communications, the Air Ministry said. One British bomber was reported lost during the night in the course of mine laying operations in enemy waters.

Bad weather over the continent, however, prevented the RAF from extensive operations.

stranded thousands of motorists along the Atlantic seaboard Sunday as summer's first week-end brought an increase in travel and exhausting demands on filling stations.

25-YEAR OLD TIRE IS ADDED TO HEAP

Used by Hettessheimer for Advertising Purposes

One of the old automobile tires which W. H. Hettessheimer, jeweler, nailed to trees and other places after he had printed his advertisement on the casing, has been turned in at the Bill Clark filling station by Claude Zimmerman, Harford Hankins and Robert West. In all probability there will not be another tire so old placed in the scrap rubber heaps in the county.

The tire is 33 by 4 1/2 inches and apparently was in use about 25 years ago.

The casing is still in fair condition regardless of being exposed to the weather for a quarter of a century.

The old casing had been nailed to a tree on Route 70, northwest of Jeffersonville.

The advertisement on the old casing, still visible, reads: "Hetty, the Jeweler, Wants 2 C U."

his sweep of eastern Libya or barring some other unforeseen move by the Axis or the United Nations, the battle of Russia will hold the spotlight.

That colossal conflict entered its second year today.

The German high command announced capture of the last coastal fort of Sevastopol, Russian Black Sea base, which has stood as a rearguard threat to any renewal of Germany's drive toward the Caucasus. The Russians acknowledged a wedge had been driven into the defenses there.

There was a roundabout report that the battle of Sevastopol had been carried into the streets of that historic Crimean city with fighting of "unprecedented violence."

How long the Soviets could bear up against the numerically superior German and Rumanian besiegers was a grave question. A German success at Sevastopol is almost surely to be followed by the opening of an offensive against the Caucasus.

Suez Defense Weakened

The Axis claimed capture of 28,000 prisoners in Tobruk, a sizeable chunk of the eighth British Imperial Army which the United Nations had been counting on to shield the western flank of Alexandria, Suez and the entire Middle East position.

Moreover, the latest Italian communique announced that captured equipment included 100 tanks, several hundred guns and hundreds of motor vehicles. It was probable the booty included shipments recently conveyed at considerable cost into Tobruk when the British still hoped the port could be held, as hitherto, as a thorn in the flank of the Axis drive eastward toward the Egyptian frontier.

But Tobruk's fall could not be assessed fully in terms of prisoners and tanks captured. It was more likely that it had spiked Allied hopes for a second front in Europe this year and had prolonged the war.

The Axis seemed to have won for itself the complete initiative in the European-African theater and no one could say that a crisis had not been reached.

Supply Lines in Danger
A diversion of formidable British-American resources to the battle of Africa seemed imperative if the Germans are to be blocked from effecting supply contact with the Japanese on the Indian Ocean by a forcing of the landbridge, Asia Minor.

The battered remainder of the British Eighth Army has fallen back to strong points along the Egyptian-Libyan border and the enemy was feeling out the British dispositions. Cairo headquarters said British mobile forces were in contact with an enemy column yesterday about 12 miles northwest of the border strong-point, Fort Capuzzo.

"There is no further news from Tobruk which must be presumed to have fallen," the communique added.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Look for more big news to pop any day now on the athletic teams that have been doing a fair country job of advertising our armed forces. . . But don't ask us to guess which direction it will pop. . . A lot of hints have been buzzing around that there's pressure from the upper regions to give the athletes less publicity and to keep them at their training chores, but there's also the unanswerable fact that their appearances speed up enlistments.

Strike—Who's Out?

Fort Worth sports scribes tell how Stub Overmire missed his swing at a third strike the other day and the right fielder threw him out at first base. . . Yes, it really happened. When the ball got away from the catcher, Overmire was slow in starting to run. The catcher threw over first, but the right fielder recovered the ball and got it to the bag in time to retire Stub.

Blues on Top In AA Again; Birds Win 2

(By the Associated Press)

Kansas City once more has taken over first place in its prolonged duel with Milwaukee for the American Association lead.

Milwaukee fell two full games behind Kansas City yesterday when Columbus swept the five game series by taking the last two contests, 6 to 1 and 4 to 1. Meanwhile, Kansas City was getting splendid pitching from Tommy Reis and Allen Gettel and trimmed Toledo twice, 3 to 0 and 4 to 1.

Louisville failed to gain on third place Minneapolis, the two clubs splitting a double header. The Millers won the first, 5 to 1; Louisville the second 8 to 5.

Indianapolis had little trouble with St. Paul, winning the twin bill, 5-1 and 2-0.

College Golfers Meet in Indiana For 45th Tourney

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 22.—(P)—A field of 141 of the nation's top college golfers teed off today on the Chain O'Lakes Golf course in the 45th annual National Intercollegiate tournament.

Eighteen holes of medal play were scheduled for today and a similar round tomorrow. In addition to seeking a place in the select field which will begin match play Wednesday, the college golfers will be out to win the team championship from Stanford's defending Indians.

After two days of medal play the winner of the team championship and the 64 individuals who will begin match play for the title Wednesday, will be decided.

Earl Stewart of Louisiana State is defending individual champ.

The United States is expected to produce approximately 800,000,000 bushels of wheat this year.

CARDINAL HOPES BATTERED DOWN BY BUMS' BATS

Yankees Snap out of 5-Game
Losing Streak as They Beat
Indians in Last Tilt

By AUSTIN BEALMER

(By the Associated Press)

Sadder but wiser, the St. Louis Cardinals limped toward Boston today, able to rejoice in only two things—their departure from Brooklyn and the discovery of one pitcher who can fool the devastating Dodgers.

When the Cards invaded Brooklyn last week they were riding on a seven-game winning streak and trailing the National League leaders by only four games and a half.

But Brooklyn slapped the Cardinals down four times out of five, pushed them three full games further behind, and sent them on their weary way.

For the Cards, the only bright spot of their visit was provided by Pitcher Mort Cooper.

He handcuffed the league champs on five hits in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader, for an 11 to 0 shutout.

Same Old Story

But the second game was the same old story again. Kirby Higbe pitched seven-hit ball for the Dodgers, who bunched their blows off Howard Pollat for a 5-2 decision. Joe Medwick connected safely in both games, stretching his consecutive game hitting streak to 25.

Elsewhere in the majors the hurlers turned in some pretty fair country pitching.

Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox tossed a neat three-hitter, Cliff Melton pitched a four hitter for the New York Giants and Hank Borowy of the New York Yanks turned in a five-hit job—all shutouts. Luman Harris of the Philadelphia Athletics and Ray Starr of the Cincinnati Reds also had five-hitters, but both yielded runs.

Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox became the second active pitcher to win 250 games, joining Red Ruffing of the Yanks, who reached that goal only two weeks ago. Only 18 other hurlers ever have won that many games and only 10 have done it since the turn of the century.

Melton pitched the Giants to a 5-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the first game yesterday, but the Cubs took the nightcap, 7-2.

Reds Beat Phils

The Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phils split, the Phils winning first, 3-2, behind six-hit pitching by Tommy Hughes and the Reds rallying behind Starr to square accounts, 2-1.

Pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart tripled in the tenth inning with the bases loaded to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-3 decision over the Boston Braves. The second game wasn't played.

The Cleveland Indians handed the New York Yankees their fifth straight loss, 3-2, but Borowy led the world champions out of the wilderness with a 4-0 shutout in the nightcap, preserving that seven-game lead.

Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 6-5 win over the Boston Red Sox in the first game, but Hughes evened it up in the second, which Boston won, 7-0.

Detroit and Al Benton beat Washington and Buck Newsom, 4-1, in the top half of their twin bill, only to lose the 10-inning nightcap to the Senators, 3-2, when Virgil Trucks, Tiger reliever, walked a man with the bases loaded.

The Philadelphia Athletics took both games from the St. Louis Browns, 4-2 and 4-3.

NEW YORK, June 22.—(P)—Cincinnati's past the easy half of a 14-game swing through the east, and a record of six victories in seven games ought to make today's rest well-earned. But mingled with any self-satisfaction will be knowledge that the Redlegs' already dim chances of becoming a pennant contender can be blacked out almost completely in the next six days here.

Tuesday and Wednesday the Reds meet New York, and Thursday they open a five-game series with Brooklyn's Dodgers.

The Reds lost the opener of a twinbill with the Phils Sunday

3-2 and won the nightcap, 2-1, leaving two dozen runners stranded in the two games.

One of the day's nine Philadelphia errors enabled Ray Starr to achieve his tenth victory against two setbacks in the nightcap.

Rookie outfielder Clyde Vollmer, who came to the Reds from Syracuse June 1 and socked the first ball pitched to him in his major-league debut for a homer, was optioned to Birmingham, Redleg Southern League farm, yesterday.

Hale America Won By 135-Lb. Hogan With Dazzling Golf

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO, June 22.—(P)—Little Ben Hogan, some 135 pounds of pure whipcord, finally crashed through to win that major golf championship which eluded him so long while he was busy winning most of the money and otherwise establishing himself as the uncrowned king of the links.

His victory in the Hale America Tournament which ended yesterday at the Ridgemoor Club was about as brilliant a feat as golf has seen. His total of 271 for the 72 holes shattered by 10 strokes the record for national open championship. On his second round the dark, diminutive ex-Texan shot an almost unbelievable 62.

Yet, ironically, the supreme goal of every golfer still eludes Ben. His name will not appear in golf's record book as winner of the national open tilt. Because of the war, there will be no open tournament this year. This was the closest thing to it.

Hogan, though, was not in a mood to accept any sympathy after he had rolled in putts from all sorts of distances to score his clinching 68 yesterday. "What difference does it make?" he demanded. "If this wasn't an open championship I don't know what could be. Everybody was in it. I'm glad to win, whatever they call it. I never expected to be close after that 72 I shot the first day. There were 62 other players even with me or better that night."

Ben won $1,100. The "goat" of the four-day event—and there seems to be one in every tournament—was Jimmy Demaret of Detroit. The happy-go-lucky Jimmy needed only to shoot the last four holes in par to score a 66 on his final round and finish in a tie with Hogan for the title. Instead, he went to pieces, drove like the rankest duffer on three consecutive holes and wound up in a tie with Mike Turnesa for second place with a total of 274.

After the first three contenders, the field was widely scattered. Seven strokes behind Hogan at 278 were Horton Smith, Jimmy Thompson and Byron Nelson. Tied at 280 were Lawson Little and Eddie Burke; at 281 were Dick Metz, Jim Ferrier and Lloyd Mangrum. From there they soared on into the 300-odd brackets.

SO BRING IN ALL YOUR

SCRAP RUBBER NOW!

● Your old rubber is needed for life belts and rafts, for gas masks, tank treads, raincoats and many other things to equip and arm our fighting forces. It is needed for every tank, bomber and battleship we build. America needs every bit of rubber you can spare—needs it now!

Are we going to let our boys down? Not on your life! So search the attic, the cellar, the garage, the barn, gullies and field, for every scrap of unneeded rubber you can find. And bring it in to any gas station today.

DON'T DELAY! LOOK AGAIN! GET IT IN NOW!

If you've turned in all the rubber at your house, ask your neighbors to search for rubber. Look for rubber where you work; look in trash piles anywhere—at garages, factories, stores, along country roads, under bridges; search community dumps.

There's more scrap rubber yet to be found than has been found. Come on Ohio! America needs it, and time is short!

President Roosevelt has designated all Ohio gas stations as official collection points and set the standard price of 1¢ a pound on scrap rubber. There is no profit for any company helping in the collection.

Gasoline dealers will be reimbursed by the oil companies supplying them, and the rubber will be bought at exactly the same price paid for it by the Rubber Recovery Corp., a new Government unit. All money for donated rubber will go to Army and Navy Relief, the U.S.O. and the Red Cross. Oil companies, with others, will contribute transportation and all costs of picking up and handling, as well as the time of thousands of employees. All scrap rubber collected will be immediately added to our country's vital supply.

SAFETY IN LITTLE BUSINESS

There have been so many tax proposals that the people are bewildered. But they are becoming aware of the truth of the statement that "the power to tax is the power to destroy." This can be illustrated by proposals to tax excess profits up to 100 percent, or to allow only a 6 percent return.

Big business can stand this. But what about the tens of thousands of small businesses? Even if they could operate on that basis, would their future not be practically frozen and their ability to expand destroyed.

If little business is too badly handicapped, big business gets bigger, and the next thing we know the country is dependent almost entirely on big business for its existence. When that day comes, the stage is set for state socialism, for the cry would go up that private enterprise should not exist for the few at the expense of the many.

Here is an insidious danger in taxation to the point of confiscation, which few people probably realize—it can not only destroy individual business, but it can destroy the foundation of our whole free economy which we are fighting a war to protect. A tremendous responsibility rests on Congress to balance its tax program so as not to kill private enterprise that has made the United States.

BONDS FIGHT THE AXIS

The American people will decide whether or not the nation will be forced to adopt and accept compulsory purchasing of War Bonds. According to Secretary Morgenthau, it will be necessary for us to buy $1,000,000,000 worth of these bonds each month. If we do that voluntarily there will be no need for compulsion. If we don't, compulsion will be inevitable.

Some may wonder why the government can't pay for the war simply by selling more bonds to banks. Secretary Morgenthau recently pointed out that excessively heavy bank purchases are inflation, "because when commercial banks buy Government Bonds they do not pay for them with actual cash taken from their vaults, but by placing on their books newly created deposits to the credit of the government. When the government draws upon these deposits to pay for the goods and services it buys, the purchasing power of those to whom these payments are made is increased without any decrease in the purchasing power of those from whom the money is borrowed."

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Four volunteer firemen at nearby Port Orange really did lose their shirts while fighting a woods blaze.

As they reached the scene they shucked off their shirts and threw them on a parked bicycle, asking a small boy to keep an eye on them. Opinions Vary on 'What Is the Seven Year Itch?'

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
A LITTLE WHILE ago in this column I said that I happened to get to wondering about the term "seven year itch," and tried to find out what it referred to but was unable to find it in the dictionary.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

or the encyclopedia or Brewer's "Handbook for Readers" or other manuals of this general kind, and I asked my readers if anyone knew exactly what it meant.

I have had a number of responses and am very grateful to those who have contributed to the symposium. There is, however, some difference of opinion and I am not sure I can say the question is settled yet. For instance, a reader in Asheville, North Carolina, says: "I am very much surprised to learn you don't know what the seven year itch is. I have known that since I was big enough to walk. The seven year itch is a term used when one gets too lazy to move, too lazy to work for a living, too lazy to take a bath or wash their face and hands and too lazy to comb their own hair."

The Itch Mite

This reply is more at variance than any other. Most of the writers say that seven year itch is the scabies. Scabies is, of course, ordinarily called the itch and is due to the itch mite which gets under the skin especially on the delicate part of the hands. The only trouble with that answer is that scabies doesn't last seven years even if untreated. Some of my readers get around this difficulty by saying that it is a stubborn disease and even when treated, some spot of the skin becomes a focus for its continuance and spread, and in these cases it really lasts seven years.

Another reader says that it is the itch due to the chigger which, according to this letter, is a small insect or flea found in the West Indies and South America. The chigger is not confined to the West Indies or to South America by any means, however, as we have plenty of them in Missouri. But here again the infection never lasts more than a few days or weeks at the most.

Opinions Vary Widely

Another reader says that seven year itch is due to chemical changes, particularly soaps, that get on the hand and it takes seven years to get the chemical completely out of the system.

As can be seen, what I stated above is true: that there is a good deal of variation in opinion as to what the seven year itch is. Everybody claims to know right off the bat, but they have so many different explanations that it hardly seems possible that any of them given here is exactly and literally accurate. My idea is that it was some sort of an historic event like the plagues of Egypt and that some people somewhere were afflicted with it and it passed into the language as an allusion. But although I have been endeavoring to find an answer to the question as hard as anybody, I am still in the dark about it. Maybe if we found out what it was, we could send it as a curse on the Japs or the Italians and even up the score a little bit.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. B.—Does a growing girl need the cream of the milk, or would it be a good idea to skim it for her? Does she have to eat at each meal until she feels satisfied? Is it wise to cut out sweets entirely in her diet?

Answer: These questions are asked concerning a twelve-year-old girl who is overweight and gaining weight. Under these circumstances cream and sweets can safely be eliminated from the diet. It certainly is not necessary for a person with a tendency to overweight to eat until she is satisfied. In fact, an opposite plan would be in order.

SYNOPSIS

DIAN WESTON, attractive Ardendale girl, is jilted and her aunt, MISS MARTHA WESTON, tries to persuade her to marry JEROME CARR, a local banker. Dian happens to meet BILL ROLLINS, a New York artist, who also has been jilted by another Ardendale girl, CLAIRE LESTER. The latter has discovered she loves PAUL PETERS, a local boy, who is now an engineer.

YESTERDAY, Dian and Bill hear Claire and Paul come up on the farmhouse porch for shelter.

CHAPTER EIGHT

INSIDE THE house Dian stared at Bill, and Bill stared right back at her.

"Claire!" said Bill.

"Paul Peters!" said Dian.

"Eloping!" they said in unison.

Suddenly Dian ran out into the hall. She flung open the front door.

"Come right in!" she called. "You're just in time for some bridge!"

Claire and Paul jumped, and then stared. Then they walked inside.

"Fancy finding you here!" said Claire.

"After all, it's my house, you know," said Dian. She led them into the living room. "Claire, I think you know this gentleman," she said, nodding toward Bill.

"Oh!" said Claire, her eyes wide with astonishment.

"Fancy finding HIM here," said Dian, actually enjoying herself.

Paul Peters stepped forward. He took a good look at Bill, and then glared.

"Claire," he demanded, "who's this man?"

Before Claire could reply, Bill spoke up. "I'm the man she didn't elope with!" he said.

It took Claire some time to get hold of herself and handle what she felt was indeed an awkward situation.

"This is Mr. Rollins, Paul," she said. "I told you about him. Don't you—remember?"

"Yes, I remember," said Paul. "But you gave me the impression he had left for New York."

"I thought he was on his way," said Claire.

"And I was," said Bill. "But I got stopped by a shoe!"

"A shoe?" said Claire. "What on earth do you mean?"

"It was my shoe," said Dian. "I threw it."

"You?" Claire said, eyeing Dian with a peculiar expression.

"Yes, Dian," said Bill. "Here it is—HER shoe." He took it from the pocket of his coat. "Cute—eh?"

"Well!" said Claire explosively. "A damsel was in distress," Bill went on, "and we Rollinses never could resist going to a rescue."

"Adventure—and all that," said Dian. She smiled at Bill, grateful to him for carrying matters off in such a charming and amusing way.

"And I thought it only happened in books and plays."

"I must say," Claire remarked, "that you didn't lose much time after hearing about Fred Mayhew."

"Oh, that!" said Dian airily. "Yes, that."

"Just one of those things, Claire—you know, here today and gone tomorrow, if you know what I mean."

"Well, I don't. All I know is that you and Fred Mayhew have been talking about marrying ever since I can remember."

"Just a lot of talk—that's all. Propinquity."

"Propinquity—my eye!"

"Anyway," Dian went on, "I was never one to let the grass grow under my feet. So when Bill drove past my house, and I saw how handsome he was, I simply couldn't resist stopping him."

"With THIS," said Bill, again holding up the shoe.

"For heaven's sake," Claire said, "put that thing away."

"Besides," said Dian, "Bill needed comforting. Didn't you, Bill?"

"I certainly did," said Bill. He shook his head sadly. "Don't forget that tragic scene you and I enacted upon your moonlit front porch."

"Bill—you poor darling!" said Claire.

"I came hurrying up your walk to claim my bride," Bill went on, "my footsteps light, my heart singing—and then . . . Well, just go back and think. You told me it was all off—after I'd driven nearly a thousand miles to make you Mrs. William James Rollins. You said your old sweetheart had returned, and that—"

"Bill, please, not here!" Claire begged.

"Why not?"

"There are others present."

"What of it? We're all friends—jilted and jiltors—under the same roof." Bill sighed heavily. "My weary footsteps going back down all off—after I'd driven nearly a thousand miles to make you Mrs. William James Rollins. You said your old sweetheart had returned, and that—"

hope you don't mind."

"Goodness, no," said Dian. "I'm glad I can be called a diversion. It's something different. I've been called lots of things, but never that."

Bill and Dian smiled at each other. It was almost as though they shared some wonderful secret.

"Dian was swell to me," Bill continued. "It was a sort of case of—of—misery loving company."

"Or when jilt meets jilt," said Dian.

Claire looked from one of them to the other.

"Are you two serious?" she demanded.

"If you ask me," Paul Peters broke in, "I think they're kidding the whole business."

"Paul Peters!" Dian exclaimed. "What an awful thing to say! One doesn't kid a broken heart."

"Darned if you look or act like a broken-hearted girl to me."

"It just goes to show," said Bill sadly.

"To show what?" said Claire.

"Oh, it's hard to explain," Bill replied. "Only, so few people understand what emotional upheavals the other people are going through. You agree with me, don't you, Dian?"

"I certainly do."

"You would," said Claire. "I'm dying for a cigarette, if either of you men can spare one."

Paul and Bill each reached for his cigarette case.

"My pleasure," said Bill. "I beat you to it, Peters."

He lit Claire's cigarette for her.

"Thanks," she said. She drew deeply and blew a smoke ring ceilingward. "Well," she said, "here we are! Now what?"

"That's what I'd like to know," said Paul.

"Oh, Bill, I forgot!" Dian cried suddenly. "I was going to give you some food."

"You mean you're hungry?" Claire asked, shocked.

"Yes, Claire," said Bill. "I am."

"Imagine!" Claire was frankly annoyed. "Hungry—and calling each other by your first names—you and Dian. How perfectly ducky."

"Yes, isn't it?" said Dian. "But you'd hardly expect me to call Bill 'Mister Rollins' after I'd gone so far as to throw my shoe at him."

"I suppose not," said Claire. "And me sitting at home thinking Bill was utterly crushed."

"Are you disappointed to find that he isn't?" said Dian.

"Of course not. The idea!"

Tomorrow's Woman Faces Important Job

(By the Associated Press)

Women will be in the thick of things in post war reconstruction and will play a bigger part than ever before in building the framework of peace.

What they achieve in their post-war jobs will depend on how well they have prepared themselves in advance.

Those challenging ideas come from Mrs. Harrison Thomas, Educational Secretary of the League of Nations Association.

What she says bears weight in the light of her 17 years' experience in the League Association's New York office, her previous work as a teacher and her extended observation of the woman of today.

"It's obvious that the United Nations will work together in post-war reconstruction and peace," she said, when I asked her to comment on women's part in the new order. "The Atlantic Charter and the speeches of President Roosevelt and Under Secretary of State Welles all point to United Nations team work. We'll all be in it together."

New Jobs for Women

"After the war there will be tremendous reconstruction problems to face. In Greece and other occupied countries there is a whole generation of

NEW TAXES LIKELY TO PAY WAR'S COST Soft Drinks May Become New Source of Revenue

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—With sales tax proposals defeated the House ways and means committee turned to excises today in an attempt to swell still further the record-breaking total of $6,640,000,000 in new taxes it already has approved to help finance war.

Two proposals have been advanced to tax bank checks, either a definite amount on each check or a flat monthly percentage levy against the total withdrawals from a bank account. And the treasury has suggested that soft drinks be taxed about $146,000,000 annually.

25 MORE SHIPS SUNK BY SUBS LAST WEEK Blockade of Atlantic Is Intensified by Hitler

(By the Associated Press) The United Nations today counted 25 merchant ships sunk in the Atlantic last week as the deadline neared on Hitler's order for even more intensified U-boat activity.

The Navy added one to the total yesterday (Sunday) with the announcement that a small Norwegian vessel had been sent to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico. This brought the announced toll in the Atlantic and adjacent waters to 290 since Pearl Harbor.

Hitler has ordered his submarine commanders to intensify the blockade to include shipping north of the West Indies and Ireland and east to Europe, effective Friday.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, June 22—(AP)—Wheat prices slumped more than a cent early in today's trade and then spent the remainder of the session recovering practically all of the loss.

Accumulated orders over the week end as a result of war news and trade belief that receipts would expand materially in the southwest as the harvest moved gained headway accounted for the early break. Actually, the volume of arrivals failed to come up to expectation of some dealers, due probably to recent delays in harvesting because of wet weather. Buying on the recovery was attributed to professional and milling interests. Flour sales to the government were credited with bringing some support into the pit.

Wheat 1/4-3/4 lower than Saturday, July 1.18 1/4-1/2. September 1.21 1/4-1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 off, July 86 1/2-1/2. September 89 1/4-1/2; oats unchanged; rye 1/4-1/2 higher; soybeans 3/4 lower to 1 1/2 higher. October and December soybeans rose about 2 cents at one stage, due partly to need of dry, hot weather for the new crop in some areas.

WASHINGTON C. H. BOYS OFFICERS AT STATE CAMP

Three Honored by Election To City and County Posts at Camp

Three Washington C. H. High School boys, Stanley Mark, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mark of Millwood Avenue, Rollo Marchant, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marchant of East Street, and Bill Williams, son of Mrs. Edward L. Williams, of North North Street, have been having the "time of their lives" at the Buckeye Boys' State Camp near Delaware. They will complete their 10 day stay, as guests of the American Legion, Tuesday.

The three youngsters are all "city or county" officials under the set-up in the camp. Mark is County treasurer of "Galbraith County", Marchant is treasurer of "White City" and Williams is a councilman.

There are some 700 high school boys in the camp, from all over Ohio, and the experience and training given the boys is along the most approved lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark visited the camp Sunday and were greatly pleased with the arrangements generally.

In a letter to his parents, Stanley writes in part, "It is my first day in office, and everyone is filing deeds and doing all sorts of business that goes on in an American city."

"This is really just the same as a real city. Everyone must pay his taxes or he is kicked out of his bunk."

"We are all paid salaries according to our positions and are expected to support ourselves accordingly. All arguments are settled in court. There are even jails. There is a rumor that there is a plot to kidnap the Governor."

"My office is in the same room with the recorder, auditor, and other officials. The recorder's office is in an uproar just now because everyone is trying to file his deed."

"The food is swell. Don't worry about vegetables for we have a salad at nearly every meal."

Everyone from Washington C. H. has an office. Rollo is City Treasurer. Bill is councilman and I am county treasurer.

"This place is full of athletic stars. Monday I played football with two or three guys from Massillon. One of them was on an all-state second team. There isn't a sorehead or grouch in the bunch."

"There has been quite a few visitors here, so I will expect you Sunday, if it is a nice day. If you come don't drive over 20 miles in town for the place is lousy with highway patrolmen."

"When you get here, find me first. Visitors are not allowed on the grounds without an escort who is a citizen of Boys' State."

"I'm getting pretty homesick, but I'm so busy I don't have time to think about it."

"Well, I'd better go to work."

WHEAT DAMAGED IN ROSS COUNTY

Hessian Fly Ruins Many of The Early Sown Fields In Scioto Valley

The Hessian fly has made heavy inroads in the wheat crop on some farms in Ross County. Fred Orr, chairman of the Ross County division of the AAA, has announced.

In a few instances wheat fields are almost a total loss and farmers have entered claims for crop risk insurance. On other farms loss is only part of the crop, but in most fields the damage has been negligible.

A bumper crop of wheat is anticipated in Ross County despite inroads made by the fly.

Some of the fields heavily damaged by the fly were sown before the fly-free date.

In Fayette County, so far as known, damage by the Hessian fly has been light, and will not interfere with the big crop now being harvested.

3 NEW HOLLAND GIRLS TRAINING AT NYA CENTER

Course in Machine Shop Work Here To Be Ready On Schedule, 'Tis Said

Three New Holland girls today are today in what might well be termed a "war college" at the Charles Mill Resident Center near Mansfield where they will be given training in machine shop work so they can take their places in American industries turning out the tools with which the boys will attack the Hitlerites and Nippies to save their country's freedom.

Donna B. Doan, Lavonne D. Keaton and Jennie M. Skinner all signed up for the three-month course of training offered by the government through the National Youth Administration last week and now are comfortably settled in their dormitories.

Miss Catherine Weis, the NYA field representative, described life of the girls at the center as being akin to that in college. However, they have all their expenses paid by Uncle Sam and are given $12 a month for spending money while they are in training. When they have completed the course, they will go into some war plant at work for which they were fitted.

While the NYA does not agree to place the girls, Miss Weis said the demand for them was so great that most of them go right to work from the Center.

The United States Employment Service office here with Charles Dunton in charge is the clearing house for information concerning the Center, Miss Weis is here at least once, and sometimes more often every week to interview applicants for training.

Meanwhile, plans for opening machine shop training classes in the Washington C. H. High School about July 1 for both men and women was said to be progressing ahead of schedule. Machinery, special tools and new equipment is being installed now and probably will be ready by the time the classes are formed. Dunton is handling the enrollment for the classes here, also, at the USES office on Market Street.

SUMMER REHEARSALS STARTED FOR WHS BAND

Summer rehearsals of the WHS band were slated to get under way Monday (tonight) at 7:30 P. M. in the high school auditorium.

Navy Wedding Bells

Paul Fitzwater, the band director has announced.

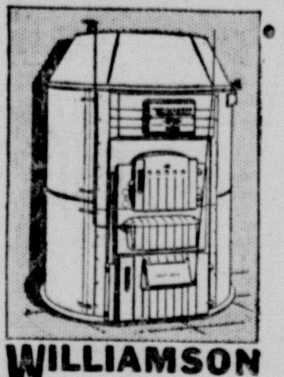

Weekly rehearsals of the band are to continue through the summer, he said, to prepare for events later on.

All members of the band, he declared, should be present for this first rehearsal and the welcome mat has been put out for any newcomers to the high school next year.

Instrumental classes for beginners, Fitzwater said, also are now getting started.
